Plan a family activity

- As a family member who plans an activity, I want to find a period of time where my family members are available, so that they can all participate in the family activity.
- As a family member who plans an activity, I want to allow other family members to vote on a family activity, so that I know their willingness to participate.
- As a family member, I want to have one source of truth for my family schedule, so that I don't have to search multiple places in order to determine all family members' availabilities.

Coordinate the usage of shared resources

- As a family member who wants to use a shared family resource, I want to indicate the priority level of using the shared resource, so that I can resolve possible resource usage conflicts.
- As a family member who wants to manage family resources, I want to remind other family members to put shared resources back in their place after usage, so that I do not need to search for it afterwards.
- As a family member who wants to use a shared family resource, I want to know other family members' current usage of shared resources, so that I can plan my usage around their lifestyles.

Connect with family members to keep up-to-date

- As a parent, I want to find an occasion to connect with my children, so that I can have deeper level conversations with them.
- As a parent, I want my child to have a comfortable environment sharing the difficult aspects of their life with me, so that I can promptly provide my assistance.
- As a family member, I want to receive relevant family updates from their social media platforms, so that I do not need to actively search these platforms to receive family news.
